1/6/21 Normally I do not advocate wearing a mask, but please think ahead and wear your mask and no easily identifiable items from the time you step foot in DC or the metro area. Just in case. Cameras...I mean Covid everywhere. (i.maga.host)

18 We learn from history or we are doomed to repeat it.

The SS, KGB, Chicoms, North Koreans, they consolidated power by shutting off communications, censoring the truth, then one by one eliminating dissidents.

If (when) they start taking patriots, don't wait and play defense. Go on the offensive. If they are busy playing defense they arent ripping people out of homes in the middle of the night.

To retaliate they will have to do public violence for intimidation, that will wake people up and build support for the people.

Also there are a good amount of people in the letter agencies who are just brainwashed into thinking we are evil nazi racist whatever and they are the good guys, once their eyes are opened to the truth they become the biggest patriots.

6 Literally. Worked for a guy that said they are developing software that recognizes your gate and mannerisms. Instead of facial recognition, there will be cameras that track your basic movements and personal mannerisms. You will then be catalogued based on no facial or voice recognition. He said if a shot is now fired in Vegas they will know within half a second and within 100 feet of where it occurred.

2 Personal mannerisms? Like what? Walking? Talking? Putting my hands in my pockets?

▼ permalink parent save report block reply

▲ SerBarristanBOLD 2 months ago +1 / -0

1 How you walk. Your gate or shuffle. A limp. How you always put your hands in your pockets when talking. Holding a pinky up while drinking a soy latte. They can now catalogue everyone by their individual movements even if everyone is wearing a mask. Just try and strut like Dustin Johnson if you can.

permalink parent save report block reply

▲ MerchantMan99 2 months ago +1 / -0

1 Very few people limp. It's not reliable anyway, since the limp might be a temporary injury. And I somehow doubt there will be many soy latte drinkers in that crowd. Either way, even if they record everyone, they have no idea who they are. The people there will be wearing masks, and there is no database to match someone's walking style and mannerisms with an identity.

permalink parent save report block reply

▲ SerBarristanBOLD 2 months ago +1 / -0

1 Ya I said this is being newly implemented in Vegas. I don't know if anywhere else. I agree not everyone has a limp, I was just trying to name distinguishing characteristics. It doesn't link your mannerisms to your identity necessarily. It just catalogs all the individuals and their movements. If an unknown individual starts reeking havoc, the database cross references their movements with the database. They can tell if someone is part of a group that's already been catalogued. From there I assume it's easy for them to figure out your identity by tracing your movements. It may not exist fully yet, but with everyone wearing masks, they ARE building a database connecting your movements and mannerisms to your identity.

▼ If your face and eyes are covered and you have no phone, it makes it hopefully difficult for you to be later picked off one by one. If the "Feds" or whatever trash "following orders" people come to your house to arrest you and grab your guns in the middle of the night, no one will know. They can and may do this to thousands of patriots across the country with just a few people knowing and spreading the word about some of them, the info being lost to the majority of folks because it was such a tiny percentage of the population, and social media is not our friend. Just be aware that this is an obviously effective tactic.
